La Guardia Fights Immigration Bar in Dinner Debate

Economic Club's Annual Feast Gives Rise to Discussion: Civic Federation Women Would Select 'Em

Discussion of the immigration problem at the fifty-fifth dinner of the Economic Club, of New York, last night developed into a spirited debate among the four speakers of the evening.

Professor Jeremiah W. Jenks, of New York University, and Elton Huntington Hooker favored a barrier to stop the tide of immigration from Europe, while F. H. La Guardia, President of the Board of Aldermen, and Louis Marshall, attorney, said that the present laws afford sufficient restriction.

The dinner was presided over by George W. Wickham, president of the club, and was attended by several hundred members.

A necessary policy of selection, as well as restriction, has been applied in the Dillingham bill, according to Professor Jenks. Mr. Marshall, who followed Professor Jenks, said that the immigrant and his children must be credited with much of the upbuilding of the country and remarked that while it is true many have gone home with the money they made here "they left the railroads and highways."

Mr. Hooker declared for a strong temporary barrier against the immigrant, and said: "The immigrant must now show why he must come in, rather than that the United States should give him unworthy." Mr. La Guardia said that the alarm about dangerous immigration is unwarranted. "If there is any further restriction that could be added to the law as it stands, I cannot conceive it," he added.

Francis H. Sisson, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Company, told an audience at Haverford Hall, Columbia University, at a meeting last night under the auspices of the extension department and the Inter-Racial Council, that shutting off immigration will "economically damp" this country.

Mr. Sisson said that unless immigrant labor is obtained in proper quantity and quality American industries may have to set up factories in countries where labor is available.

Palmer Attacks Lawyers' Report on Radical Raids

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—Attorney General Palmer, before the Senate Judiciary Committee to-day, declared the report of twelve lawyers on Department of Justice raids, as submitted by the Popular Government League, to be "part of the strategy employed by a paid attorney defending Assistant Secretary of Labor Post."

The report, which attacked the conduct of the raids by the Department of Justice, Mr. Palmer said, was the work of the "paid attorney" and was signed by some of the committee of twelve without personal knowledge of its contents. He produced official records, photographic copies of warrants, prison records and membership certificates of anarchistic organizations to disprove specific charges contained in the report and testified to previous witnesses before the Judiciary Committee.

Witnesses before the committee, said by Mr. Palmer in most cases to be lawyers defending aliens held for deportation, had given testimony which, he declared, was "only another evidence of propaganda against the Department of Justice," based upon "falsehood and misunderstanding."

Wilson to Itemize His Use Of $150,000,000 War Fund

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—White House officials announced to-day that President Wilson, before his retirement March 4, would make a final itemized report showing the disbursements and allotments made by him out of the $150,000,000 war fund voted him by Congress.

The House after a stormy session yesterday adopted a resolution calling upon him for such a report.

You Want a Clear Skin

You want a sparkling, radiant complexion, glowing with health and vigor.

A clear skin is just as much your birthright as a healthy body. But under present-day conditions neither may be had without proper care.

Men have found a new means of attaining a good complexion. It is known as the Terminal Mud Massage. Unusual in name, perhaps; but unusual in results.

In large measure a clear skin is dependent upon an active blood circulation in the face, so that impurities may be carried away by Nature's method. By temporarily excluding all oxygen from the pores the Terminal Mud Massage brings about that increased circulation, effectually preventing an accumulation of foreign matter and the skin eruptions that follow.

The cream used in the Terminal Mud Massage is Scott's Mineralava—a preparation of remarkable potency. Made from a clay of active medicinal properties, the cream is penetrating, the cleansing thorough. To the last particle it expels all impurities which can be removed externally. And it aids materially in rebuilding the skin.

Visit any of the Terminal shops and try this new and better massage. It has been available but a few months; but already its value has been fully proved.
